Trauma-Informed Care for Providers working with Children and Youth with Special Health Care Needs (CYSHCN)

Did you know that CYSHCN experience higher rates of adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) than their peers without special health care needs?

Join Kelsey Sala-Hamrick, PhD, Senior Research Scientist, Michigan Public Health Institute and Dionne Stalling, Patient and family advocate and Executive Director of Rare and Black, as they explain how ACEs impact children with special health care needs and their families. Recognize signs and symptoms of trauma or ACEs, identify families in need of services, and develop skills to support those with or at-risk for trauma.
