

Ancestors, Archaeology and the Anishinabek: Bridging the Past into the Future

Acknowledgments

The project team gratefully acknowledges all ancestors who were creators of these archaeological sites and all ancestors who came before us who made this work possible. We also acknowledge the spirits of Manoomin and Nmé who inspired and guided this work.

The project team also acknowledges that funding for the M-231 archaeological investigations and lesson plan project was provided by the Federal Highway Administration and MDOT.

We also acknowledge and thank the people who graciously shared their time, stories, ideas, experiences, knowledge, and passion for cultural understanding. Creating the lesson plans was a truly collaborative effort. We list the individual participants by sovereign nation, government agency, and private organization in alphabetical order below.
