World AIDS Day and National Influenza Vaccination Week

Each month the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) features a selection of National Health Observances (NHOs) that align with their mission to improve health across the United States. In December they're raising awareness about the ongoing fight against HIV/AIDS — and the importance of getting the flu vaccine.

Check out the resources below to help you promote these NHOs — and join the CDC in helping all Americans live healthier lives!

World AIDS Day

On December 1st, the National AIDS trust recognizes World AIDS Day to raise awareness, fight stigma, and improve education about HIV/AIDS. This year the theme of World AIDS Day is “Ending the HIV/AIDS Epidemic: Resilience and Impact.” You can promote this NHO using resources from HIV.gov's toolkit. You can also share MyHealthfinder's resources on getting tested for HIV and talking to the doctor about HIV testing. And be sure to check out Healthy People 2030 to learn about national objectives focused on HIV and other STIs.

National Influenza Vaccination Week

This year the CDC is sponsoring National Influenza Vaccination Week from December 6 to 12. Help spread the word about flu vaccination by sharing materials from CDC's digital media toolkit. You can also check out the Healthy People 2030 objective focused on increasing the number of people who get a flu vaccine. Finally, share the CDC's MyHealthfinder resource to help people in your community learn about the importance of getting vaccinated against the flu.
