

EWR Low Income Workgroup Chat - 03/03/22

Re: the 'trust' issue, did you literally ask about "for profit providers", or did you ask about specific sources in that category (e.g. a utility company by name)?

[9:24 AM] Brett Little GHI (Guest)

Sergio has a great idea but some or many of these fed, state, city and even non profit programs have all these privacy laws blocking that dream goal of one main form. How do we overcome this? I keep hitting walls.

Would 2-1-1 be a good place for single entry mentioned in the Barriers Recommendation slide?

[9:27 AM] Martin Kushler (Guest)

Is there a report and/or data summary available from the consumer survey on residential energy services utilization?

[9:34 AM] Brett Little GHI (Guest)

I am motivated to keep pushing it :)

can you speak more to the shift that was made to the more human centered design? what made the project pause, and re-set? and what shifts were made at that point?

[9:36 AM] Nicole Hill she/her PWBC (Guest)

How will this tool help to 1. address the systemic, structural and economic racism that goes on? and 2. what is in place for workforce development and training programs that would teach these marginalized residents be able to do some of this work in their communities and can Jen speak more to the neighborhoods of focus? and how those neighborhoods are being targeted in implementation of services?

[9:37 AM] Goldberg, Laura (Guest)

Is this new federal govt tool we are talking about right now?

[10:03 AM] Brett Little GHI (Guest)
<https://screeningtool.geoplatform.gov/> ??

[10:16 AM] Robin Lisowski (Guest)
Thanks, Justin. In terms of honoring J40 with federal funding deployment, do you have insights on whether or how the updated EJ screen and the new beta tool are to be used vis a vis each other? The EJ Screen update and the beta tool were released on the same day, but the relationship is not clear (to me anyway).

Hello Justin, just a couple of comments. DTE's EWR plan is over $45 million this year alone for income qualified customers. Also, savings levels are challenging with low income due to the fully subsidized costs of the measures installed per home. We'd be happy to meet with you and walk through the low income programs and the challenge of yielding cost effective savings with 100% subsidizing the measures.

Thanks, Justin. This is great info.

Justin - Any plans to measure real indoor air quality or water quality in these communities as part of your data gathering?
