What is the target area?

[9:37 AM] Martin Kushler

Will you be coordinating with WAP?

[9:39 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

This question is not for Amy but the crowd, who is doing weatherization in flint because the link is dead on the county site?

Thanks! I'll let them know.

[9:42 AM] Ritter, Lisa (DHHS-Contractor)

I believe the county recently changed their contact info

[9:42 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Lisa - Do they do Multifamily there?

[9:44 AM] Kamalay, Maddy (DHHS)

GCCARD hasn't initiated any multifamily projects locally yet, but multifamily growth is happening in many areas so it isn't out of the question that there will be MF projects happening in Flint in the near future

[9:44 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

(no need to broadcast this question)

[9:44 AM] Ritter, Lisa (DHHS-Contractor)

Yes, they can. But there are no multifamily projects currently in the works

[9:44 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Thanks!

Love my induction cooktop 😊

[10:22 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)
Didn't realize energy star certified cooking

[10:24 AM] Andrew McNeally
EnergyStar has announced that induction cooktops are an emerging technology and the award is the first step to certification. The 16 products mentioned meet the EnergyStar initial criteria but do not get the EnergyStar label.

[10:27 AM] Kamalay, Maddy (DHHS)
Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest) As a follow up from earlier, Genesee County has an updated website and here is the new link to their WAP. I have informed them of the old link appearing in searches and they are working with IT to get it down.

Is the only way to get this in the MEMD to do a study in MI?

[10:28 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Is there a link to that study Andrew? I am curious if there are saving over gas too?

[10:31 AM] Andrew McNeally

YEs, gas savings are 3x

[10:33 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

I've personally tracked concerning and sustained levels of Pm2.5 for using electric cooking during, as mentioned, burning food or liquid on the burner. Why not track Pm2.5 on electric to induction?

[10:35 AM] Martin Kushler

Will you somehow direct meter the stoves? Otherwise, will be virtually impossible to detect savings impact from the stove change w/ n=30.

[10:35 AM] Andrew McNeally

Kevin will address this in a minute

[10:35 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

+1 Martin and I agree saying tracking Pm2.5 probably will make people tune out. Ha.

[10:37 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Yes, I would advise tracking ducted range vs not ducted when tracking IAQ.

[10:37 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Recirc hood vs vented (or none at all)

[10:42 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Can't raise hand but I had a question

[10:43 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

You got it

[10:44 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Would never advise telling people not to use a range hood!

[10:45 AM] David Becker

Any consideration of a blower door test on each house?

[10:45 AM] David Becker

Correct

[10:46 AM] Brett Little, He/Him, GHI (Guest)

Might as well test the ventilation systems while you are doing that. To see the CFM
