The Michigan State Police, Traffic Crash Reporting Unit is publishing the 2017 Average Reporting Days brochure to educate law enforcement agencies on their crash reporting timeliness.

Timeliness is important as crash data is driving decisions made by law enforcement and traffic safety partners to reduce traffic fatalities, injuries, and crashes. In addition, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) requires each state to maintain complete traffic records and is evaluated on six core Model Performance Measures. Timeliness is one of the core performance measures Michigan is evaluated on during the Traffic Records Assessment. For these reasons, it is imperative that Michigan continue to show improvement in crash reporting timeliness.

Average reporting days is defined as the span of time between the crash date to the time the crash is available in the Michigan State Police Traffic Crash Reporting System database. The statewide average reporting days is 12.86 for 2017.

This brochure will be updated periodically and posted to the Traffic Crash Reporting Unit’s website at www.michigan.gov/crash.
