Staying Connected With Michigan's Retirees

June 2018

Vol. 21 No. 1

Signature Moment Starts New Life Phase

Each year, employees do something—you might call it a ritual—to celebrate the completion of their retirement application. Maybe they take a picture or raise a glass to toast the occasion. We at ORS have seen it many times.

Andy and Kathy Sheufelt, former teachers at Okemos Public Schools, celebrated that rite of passage about a year ago with a ceremonial photo with their signed documents. Although they haven't been retired for as long as some on our retirement rolls, we caught up with the Sheufelts to check in to see how things were going.

"Deciding to retire last June was not the original plan," said Kathy. "I had 34 years and Andy had 31 years. We had a daughter getting married and another daughter considering grad school. However, when we met with our financial advisor and considered all the alternatives, the time was right."

Andy added, "Not everything about the decision was financial. In my case, although I loved teaching, I felt in my heart the need to do something different."

Kathy keeps busy by continuing to meet her workout buddies at 5 a.m., but no longer needs to rush to work. She checks in on her mother several times per week and does math tutoring when she can. Andy works part-time as a greenhouse technician on the campus of Michigan State University. "I have a passion for plants," he said. They also rented a lodge and hosted family for a long weekend. Andy is planning to travel to Alaska with his brother this summer.

"Having access to a pension is a game changer," said Kathy. "I heard about the 'three-legged stool' of retirement savings (Social Security, pension, and savings) and we invested. It was so worth it!"

Kathy and Andy Sheufelt signing their retirement papers.

Andy's view is that their pension adds stability to what could be a turbulent time for some people. He said, "Our financial planner told us stories about people who used up their nest egg within the first couple of years of retirement. He told us not to do that." And they won't.

Kathy thinks retirement is awesome! Andy's staying busy, but it's not the same kind of busy. Both express gratitude for the chance to spend time with important and interesting people in their lives. Recently they reminded each other that "it's coming up on a year." When they look at that photo from last year, they celebrate great careers and feel validated that their decision to retire was the right one.

How did you "mark" the day? Do you commemorate the day you retired? Let us know by sending us an email: ORS-RetireeStories@michigan.gov.

Enrolling or Changing Insurance Plans

If you are enrolling yourself, your spouse, or dependents in insurance after retirement, your coverage will begin on the first day of the sixth month after ORS receives all required forms and proofs (unless you have a qualifying event).

If you have a qualifying event (such as a change in family status or involuntary loss of other group coverage), your coverage can begin as early as the first of the month after you apply, and we receive the required proofs. If you have a qualifying event, and you submit the required documents within 30 days, the six-month rolling enrollment window does not apply.

See the chart below for effective dates for enrolling in insurance. It's an easy process to enroll or change insurance plans with ORS. Enroll in a new plan in miAccount and mail your signed confirmation page to ORS or complete and mail the Insurance Enrollment/Change Request form (R0452C) to ORS.

Visit michigan.gov/orsschools for a complete list of qualifying events and information on the documentation you'll need to send as proof of your qualifying event.

Pension Funding Ratio

The market funding ratio is based on the market value of assets at the fiscal year end. The actuarial funding ratio is the best practice used by all pension plans nationwide. It incorporates a five-year “smoothing” period of investment gains and losses, which minimizes volatility in a pension system funding requirement.

While investment gains and losses are generally smoothed over five years, the retirement board and the DTMB director adopted a policy last August to recognize significant investment gains immediately in order to effectively “buy down” the assumed rate of return. Dedicating investment gains for this purpose results in lower market risk to your plan. The gains in fiscal year 2017 allowed the system administrators to reduce the assumed rate of return from 7.50 percent to 7.05 percent, while still increasing the overall funding ratio.

The Michigan Public School Employees’ Retirement System is on schedule to be fully funded in 2038. This puts the system at the forefront nationwide for funding best practices.

Investments and Earnings

The state treasurer administers all the system’s investments. The main objective is to maximize the return rate and meet the actuarial assumptions by being prudent with investments and maintaining a diverse portfolio to eliminate unnecessary risk.

“ORS adheres to best practices in the protection of your data.”

From the Director

If you're like me, you've noticed news stories on data security issues. Rest assured, ORS adheres to best practices in the protection of your data, as established by the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST). How do we go about doing this?

We protect your data three different ways: through technical management, through appropriate data handling, and through incident response plans.

First, by technical management of your data we mean the systems we use to store and retrieve your data. These systems and machines are managed by Information Technology (IT) professionals who will make changes when necessary to keep our security practices consistent with the NIST best practices.

Second, we have implemented policies and procedures at ORS for carefully handling your data. Our customer service employees abide by these policies. In fact, every ORS employee completes either online or in-person training six times each year on issues touching all kinds of security.

Third, we can never eliminate all threats, but we have detailed plans in place to act quickly if we receive any indication an incident may have occurred.

ORS is sometimes required by law to give data to individuals or organizations requesting it through the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). We carefully review each request and always comply with state law in delivering what's required.

I hope you enjoy this issue of the Connections newsletter. The June issue is dedicated to reporting the financial health of each of our retirement systems. In this issue, you will find information about Medicare's new ID numbers and how to change insurance plans. We're also continuing our feature profile of two of our retirees, my favorite recurring feature of Connections. If you have a story to share, please send it to: ORS-RetireeStories@michigan.gov.
