

POLITICAL AND INDEPENDENT

COMMITTEE STATISTICS

1984 Election

The following financial statistics show which Political and Independent Committees had financial activity during the 1984 election cycle. The statistics are under three categories: Primary Election, General Election, and then Overall Receipts and Expenditures. The figures were compiled from the pre- and post-election reports filed by each committee for each election.

Therefore, it is possible that an expenditure shown under one election (e.g. Primary) may have been actually for another election (e.g. General), but was reflected on the Post-Primary report rather than on the Pre-General report. This occurs because of the fact that the coverage dates for reports overlap the specific elections.

In addition, expenditures by these committees can include any or all of the following:

1. Contributions to or expenditures on behalf of candidates.
2. Contributions to or expenditures on behalf of ballot issues.
3. Contributions to or transfers between other non-candidate committees.
4. Administrative or other expenses.

It is incorrect to assume that all of the expenditures reported by a particular committee were solely in support of candidates. Each committee's reports should be carefully reviewed for the specific information and detail in this regard.

Whenever dashes appear in this compilation, the dashes mean that no figures were available. This usually occurs because the committee was not required to file the particular reports, failed to file the particular reports, had a reporting waiver, or failed to give summary figures. Again, a review of the particular committee's file is necessary to determine the specific reason(s).
