

GOVERNOR GRETCHEN WHITMER

EMPOWERING SMALL BUSINESSES

Governor Whitmer is committed to supporting small businesses as Michigan continues growing its economy. Throughout the COVID-19 Pandemic, the state implemented 23 economic relief programs for businesses, supporting more than 25,000 companies and retaining more than 200,000 jobs. Recently, the governor laid out a $2.1 billion proposal to grow Michigan's middle class, support small businesses, and invest in communities. As Michigan's economy grows, bolstered by a multi-billion-dollar surplus, and increasing momentum, Governor Whitmer's proposals will tackle underlying issues faced by small businesses and make bold investments to create economic prosperity for all.

"Our incredible small businesses create jobs and uplift their communities. Through the COVID-19 pandemic, they have been resilient and innovative, continuing to put their employees and customers first. They are a key part of our economic comeback, and I am focused on providing them the resources they need to thrive."
